Environmental Biotechnologies for the 21st Century

Focused on the development, distribution, and support of proprietary groundwater, soil and sediment remediation products and technologies; Adventus has successfully treated contaminated soil in thousands of sites around the globe.

Focused on mid-to-serious grade contamination, the Company's products are used for the treatment of groundwater, soil and sediment contaminated with a large range of compounds from simple gasoline to heavy metals, pesticides and explosives. Their clients include large chemical companies such as ATOFINA, THAN, and Dupont, as well as developers such as the U.S. Army, Navy and Air National Guard.

What makes Adventus unique is that their solutions are some of the most cost efficient, environmentally friendly and effective products available today.

Unlike the majority of products currently available, Adventus' solutions are made of chemical-free, natural compounds leaving no residual chemical footprint on the environment.

Adventus has offices located in Mississauga Ontario, BC, the U.S, and Europe. The Company has won a number of environmental and innovation awards including: The Environmental Business Journal 2008 Business Achievement Award and the 2008 Brownfield Briefing Remediation Innovation Awards
